We Sold America Short

Behind shortages boosting the prices of things people want to buy is a state of mind.

A mental shortage laid the groundwork for the material shortages plaguing the country, a failure to comprehend the potentialities of the United States.

Instead of looking ahead to a future in which all past standards would be made obsolete by new, higher standards, our government and many of its citizens were preoccupied with little plans to make the future as good as the past, heaven willing.

Our bureaucrats became preoccupied with schemes for passing out sedatives to deaden a postwar unemployment headache that didn't occur and now seems preposterous in the light of unsatisfied demands for more help to keep abreast of orders.

Leaders of labor unions, charged with responsibility for keeping their members employed, looked ahead and saw no answers, except strikes to lift wages to new levels before the next depression and limitations to cut down labor's productivity lest men work themselves out of a job.

Managers of enterprise, preoccupied with figures representing peak business before the war and estimates of expected peaks after the war, are discovering now that postwar peaks are making prewar peaks look like foothills. And this has happened despite shortages of material and labor.

Public and private planners, under the illusion they were letting their imaginations run wild, proposed what they believed were ambitious improvements, only to discover that in the opinion of the public they erred on the side of caution.

Statisticians thumped adding machines and computers to confirm a suspicion the American people were living on a higher average standard than ever before, yet were universally complaining because they were unable to satisfy "basic" needs.

Manufacturers learned when they went into the postwar market with improved models of prewar products that the public expected something better—tested models of advanced postwar designs.

Automobiles are selling at any price because there is a vast demand for transportation, but forward-looking manufacturers are acting on the hunch there will be a vaster demand for improved automobiles.

From ocean to ocean and border to border—on farms, in mills, stores, factories, in service trades basic industries, the professions, and arts—there is a shortage of all kinds of goods and services so tremendous there is no likelihood of satisfying it for years to come.

The thing which has created this demand—America's composite ability to imagine a higher standard of living than we ever had before—is not static. New and greater visions will occur, if we let them. There is no limit to what we can do, except the limit of our own imaginations and ability to govern ourselves.

We have been dangerously close to selling America short with our apologetic hopes that we might heaven willing, be almost as well off after the war as we were before. Heaven is willing, and heaven helps those who help themselves.

Both Ways You Lose

United Auto Workers, Chrysler branch, has made an unusual and extremely significant threat.

Unless Congress re-enacts OPA, it warns management, the union will demand increases equal to the increase in prices.

This repeats a warning made before OPA was abolished that U.A.W. intended to reopen its contracts anyway because prices already were rising. Walter Reuther and company are trying to have it both ways. Either way the workers lose.

Union executives are playing with the idea of pulling down the automobile industry again. As an added attraction, they would like to have federal price control resumed.

The threat to pull down the automobile industry is being delivered this time in the name of Chrysler unionists, not General Motors unionists.

The latter already have been given their U.A.W. dose of union discipline. Their savings are gone. Their reaction to the prospect of climbing any deeper into the hole dug for them by the Reuther slogan of more pay for less work at no increase in prices might be, "Are you trying to kid us, Walter, or do you really believe that stuff?"

We Catch On Fast

That Kentucky congressman whose wartime telephone chit-chat is fascinating an investigating committee has learned his lesson, and it is not too much to hope the experience will be taken to heart by others. That little mousetrap on the newfangled phones deserves to be taken seriously.

Wire-tapping may do what nothing has done yet—choke off gabbers whose witless endurance makes a mockery of Mr. Bell's invention when others are waiting for a clear line. The others, of course, always have something really important to say.

As one congressman said in a burst of high spirits when he heard about his associate's unintentional performance as a star of the phonograph, "It's a mean, lousy, dirty trick." Besides, it probably is unconstitutional and inflationary.

But millions of frustrated telephone subscribers now know exactly what they're a goner to do the next time they encounter back-fence gossip on Mr. Bell's invention. They are going to break in and announce impersonally, "This conversation is being recorded. Please speak distinctly. Thank you. Bye now" . . . and then they are going to get action.

The Stars Say
For Sunday, July 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope may not be read as a favorable one, as it shows difficult and unpromising conditions, which might easily be turned into unproductive or troublesome directions by false moves or provocative actions.

There may be show, bombast, prodigality and antisocial behavior, antagonizing superiors or elders. A low state of health or spirits might be at the root of this defiant or cantankerous mood.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to attend to the physical condition and depressed spirits, which might incite to a defiant, antagonistic or unfriendly state of mind, alienating real friends and challenging enemies to reprisals or highhanded acts. Safeguard funds, credit, position and all forms of treasured relations. Shun show-off tactics and waste.

A child born on this day may have some opportunities for advancement in life, but a disgruntled disposition or lowered state of health and spirits may prove its undoing.

For Monday, July 15

Monday's astrological forecast shows that finesse, strategem or some strange or unique set of circumstances may give a surprising and thrilling upswing to current peculiar or baffling conditions. This colorful episode or opportunity might be more solidly secured by sticking to realism and facts in the case, since the intuitions, ideals and emotions might lead into false and untenable positions. Move discreetly.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which the unique, strange or curious may bring exceptional adventures or experiences. These may be turned into safe and profitable channels, by discreet, cautious and realistic operations, but a leaning toward the idealistic, bizarre or fantastic might incite to unsound denouements. Keep emotions, intuitions and subtle urges under control.

A child born on this day may possess exceptional creative talents, with strong emotions and intuition, which should be directed into realistic channels.

A Little Applause Might Be In Order

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Breathless? Ten to One It's Harmless

By HERMAN N. RUDESEN, M.D.

TEN OUT of ten people who experience breathlessness and rapid, noticeable beating of the heart should consult a doctor. Nine, to be relieved of their fears that they are suffering from a heart disturbance. The tenth to get needed care for an actual heart ailment.

For while such symptoms as shortness of breath, pain and rapid pulse may indicate heart disease, they may also be due to many other causes.

Individuals Vary

Individuals vary a great deal in how much exercise they can do. Some healthy people are robust and athletic while others are fitted only for more quiet ways of living, and then there are many people in between the trained athlete and the person whose muscles are weak and flabby.

Furthermore, a person's age has some effect on the amount of exercise he can do without getting short of breath.

Thus healthy persons often imagine they are suffering from heart disease because they find they are breathless when they attempt to do things which, previously, they could do with ease.

They fail to realize that the symptoms may not be due to disease, but merely to lessening of their physical energy which comes with advancing age. Thus, the mere presence of the symptoms mentioned is no sign of heart disease.

However, since they are an indication that possibly something is wrong with the heart, whenever they occur, a thorough study of the heart is advisable. This should include an X-ray of the heart and the making of an electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heart beat. Furthermore, the doctor will listen to the beating of the heart to determine if there are any abnormal sounds called heart murmurs.

Damage Without Symptoms. Many times, damage to the heart may be present without producing any noticeable symptoms.

It depends upon the extent of the damage to the heart and the type of work a person does. In other words, if he does not do a great deal of physical work, he may never notice any shortness of breath or pain around the heart.

Heart damage which is not causing symptoms often is discovered during the course of a life-insurance examination. The wise person will have a physical examination at least once a year, so that when disorders of this type are present they may be discovered and proper treatment carried out.

It is possible, by regulating a person's activities, to reduce the strain on the heart and thus to maintain its reserve power for many years.

If symptoms due to heart disease are present the physician can advise such drugs as digitalis which slows and strengthens the heart beat and thus aids in eliminating the symptoms.

In any event, the physician is the only one who can determine the condition of the heart, and lay down rules for protecting it from further injury.

Letters to Dr. Rudesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

TEN OUT of ten people who experience breathlessness and rapid, noticeable beating of the heart should consult a doctor. Nine, to be relieved of their fears that they are suffering from a heart disturbance. The tenth to get needed care for an actual heart ailment.

For while such symptoms as shortness of breath, pain and rapid pulse may indicate heart disease, they may also be due to many other causes.

Individuals vary a great deal in how much exercise they can do. Some healthy people are robust and athletic, while others are fitted only for more quiet ways of living, and then there are many people in between the trained athlete and the person whose muscles are weak and flabby.

Furthermore, a person's age has some effect on the amount of exercise he can do without getting short of breath.

Thus healthy persons often imagine they are suffering from heart disease because they find they are breathless when they attempt to do things which, previously, they could do with ease.

They fail to realize that the symptoms may not be due to disease, but merely to lessening of their physical energy which comes with advancing age. Thus, the mere presence of the symptoms mentioned is no sign of heart disease.

However, since they are an indication that possibly something is wrong with the heart, whenever they occur, a thorough study of the heart is advisable. This should include an X-ray of the heart and the making of an electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heart beat. Furthermore, the doctor will listen to the beating of the heart to determine if there are any abnormal sounds called heart murmurs.

Damage Without Symptoms

Many times, damage to the heart may be present without producing any noticeable symptoms.

It depends upon the extent of the damage to the heart and the type of work a person does. In other words, if he does not do a great deal of physical work, he may never notice any shortness of breath or pain around the heart.

Heart damage which is not causing symptoms often is discovered during the course of a life-insurance examination. The wise person will have a physical examination at least once a year, so that when disorders of this type are present they may be discovered and proper treatment carried out.

It is possible, by regulating a person's activities, to reduce the strain on the heart and thus to maintain its reserve power for many years.

If symptoms due to heart disease are present, the physician can advise such drugs as digitalis which slows and strengthens the heart beat and thus aids in eliminating the symptoms.

In any event, the physician is the only one who can determine the condition of the heart, and lay down rules for protecting it from further injury.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

He explained that when the hatchery's Lochleven trout, occupy very crowded quarters they push and shove each other enough so their backs are out of water and exposed to the summer sun. Then comes burning, peeling and raw spots—but these heal over two to three weeks after the fish are planted in streams.

Veneral Disease Rate In European Troops Increasing

(By Associated Press)

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 13.—The U. S. Army said today the veneral disease rate among its troops in Europe "is probably the highest in American military history." A medical officer reported more than half the troops in some areas were infected in the course of a year.

"The trend is still upward," the report said, despite three months of strict discipline ordered by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander, in an effort to check the rising rate.

"The rate of veneral disease infection among U. S. troops in the European theater is the highest since the beginning of the war, and probably the highest in American military history," the office of the chief surgeon in the theater said.

On June 16 the average rate of infection in Europe was 26.1 per cent over a year's time. This was up 5.3 points from the figure given April 25, when McNarney ordered a strict return to garrison life.

Some Areas Worse
"But in some areas, the figure is more than twice the average," a medical officer said.

The rate on the day the Germans surrendered was 7.49 per cent per year.

The army attributed the rising rate to the decreasing number of troops in relation to the number of promiscuous women; the youth and relative irresponsibility of troop replacements; the high disease rate among German civilians because of state-sponsored promiscuity under the Nazi regime and food shortages causing girls to trade themselves for chocolate bars, and the faulty but widespread soldier faith in penicillin as a cure-all for veneral diseases.

The army said the rate continues to rise "despite adequate prophylaxis."

RAT POISON KILLS 20 DOGS AND CATS

CIRCLEVILLE, July 13.—At least 20 dogs and cats were dead today at the conclusion of a rat-poisoning campaign originally launched as a model for other communities.

They died after pieces of bologna, smeared with poison, were spread about the city. Pet owners had been warned in newspaper advertisements to keep their animals confined.

The casualties included pets of citizens such as Police Chief William F. McGrady, Atty. General A. Wilcox and Patrolman Alva Shasteen.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, spurred by indignant pet owners, called a mass meeting for July 26 to perfect plans for organization of a humane society. Pet owners declared that had this city of 8,000 had such an organization, the incident would not have occurred.

Official reports showed that at least 39 rats had died, but city officials said the number actually killed undoubtedly far exceeded that figure.

DURANGO, Colo. — Sunburned trout had John Henderson worried for a while but now the Durango fish hatchery superintendent is resting more easily because he's figured out that the fish get over their sore backs, just like people.

He explained that when the hatchery's Lochleven trout occupy very crowded quarters they push and shove each other enough so their backs are out of water and exposed to the summer sun. Then comes burning, peeling and raw spots—but these heal over two to three weeks after the fish are planted in streams.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass.—Among the duties of North Adams policemen is "to give special attention to horses and vehicles left unattended for five minutes." But not for long, they hope. Police Chief John F. Veneral Disease Rate In European Troops Increasing

(By Associated Press)

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 13.—The U. S. Army said today the veneral disease rate among its troops in Europe "is probably the highest in American military history."

A medical officer reported more than half the troops in some areas were infected in the course of a year.

"The trend is still upward," the report said, despite three months of strict discipline ordered by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander, in an effort to check the rising rate.

"The rate of veneral disease infection among U. S. troops in the European theater is the highest since the beginning of the war, and probably the highest in American military history," the office of the chief surgeon in the theater said.

On June 16 the average rate of infection in Europe was 26.1 per cent over a year's time. This was up 5.3 points from the figure given April 25, when McNarney ordered a strict return to garrison life.

Some Areas Worse

"But in some areas, the figure is more than twice the average," a medical officer said.

The rate on the day the Germans surrendered was 7.49 per cent per year.

The army attributed the rising rate to the decreasing number of troops in relation to the number of promiscuous women; the youth and relative irresponsibility of troop replacements; the high disease rate among German civilians because of state-sponsored promiscuity under the Nazi regime and food shortages causing girls to trade themselves for chocolate bars, and the faulty but widespread soldier faith in penicillin as a cure-all for veneral diseases.

The army said the rate continues to rise "despite adequate prophylaxis."

RAT POISON KILLS 20 DOGS AND CATS

CINCINNATI, July 13.—At least 20 dogs and cats were dead today at the conclusion of a rat-poisoning campaign originally launched as a model for other communities.

They died after pieces of bologna, smeared with poison, were spread about the city. Pet owners had been warned in newspaper advertisements to keep their animals confined.

The casualties included pets of citizens such as Police Chief William F. McGrady, Atty. Lemuel A. Wildon and Patrolman Alva Shasteen.

Stassen Says More Women Should Join In Politics

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, July 13.—Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor regarded as a possible GOP presidential candidate in 1948, believes club women should take a more active role in politics.

The former Naval officer told the biennial convention of the national federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs Thursday that women should "take a direct, vigorous part in politics and in political parties."

He advised the delegates not to "let entrenched politicians rebuff you" and not to be "too academic in your view or activities."

He said it was essential to the American form of government that we have two vigorous political parties, open to participation by the people and meeting the issues of the day in a forthright manner.

Household Hints

To save soap keep it dry after each use. For washing clothes or dishes, use pieces of soap in a shaker or make a soap jelly by dissolving the scraps in a bowlful of boiling water. Remember that a thin piece of soap can be completely used if it is pressed on a larger cake of soap when it is wet.

Instead of macaroni, spaghetti and rice put some eggs in your soup. It will add color and richness. Just before the soup is ready to serve and while it is still simmering, pour in beaten egg gradually. The egg cooks in strands immediately on coming in contact with the hot soup.

Remember that high heat toughens the egg proteins. So for all egg dishes—use low to moderate temperatures. The rule applies to hard cooked eggs too. Simmer, do not boil. They are at their best "simmered" for twenty-five to thirty minutes.

On-Job Training Check-Up Begins

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 13.—The veterans administration today began interviewing 95,000 veterans in the Ohio-Michigan-Kentucky area to learn whether their benefits under the institutional and on-the-job training program justify subsistence allowance payments.

Regional VA offices in the tri-state district have been instructed by the branch office here to make at least an initial contact with each trainee and to "note conditions under which he is receiving training," his attendance, the progress he is making. The interviews, the VA emphasized, are concerned with the veteran and not the institution of agency where he is training.

Previous supervision was confined chiefly to disabled veterans, but now the VA intends to investigate all veterans in the program, starting with those who began training prior to June 1 and before the end of the month extending to those enrolled after June 1.

Army Recommends Boost In Draft Age Up To 34

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Army has recommended to President Truman that the top draft age be boosted from 29 to 34 years when induction calls are resumed in September.

Few, if any, men over 26 have been drafted since V-J day last August.

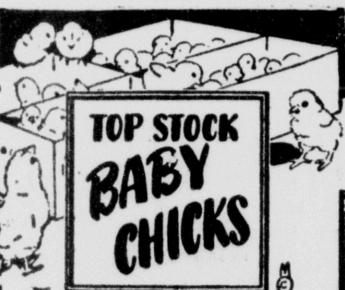

The War department recommendation was disclosed Friday by an official completely familiar with it after the American Council on Education heard an assertion that selective service expects to "scrape the bottom of the manpower barrel as it has never been scraped before" by next March.

On-Job Training Check-Up Begins

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 13.—The veterans administration today began interviewing 95,000 veterans in the Ohio-Michigan-Kentucky area to learn whether their benefits under the institutional and on-the-job training program justify subsistence allowance payments.

Regional VA offices in the tri-state district have been instructed by the branch office here to make "at least an initial contact" with each trainee and to "note conditions under which he is receiving training," his attendance, the progress he is making. The interviews, the VA emphasized, are concerned with the veteran and not the institution or agency where he is training.

Previous supervision was confined chiefly to disabled veterans, but now the VA intends to investigate all veterans in the program, starting with those who began training prior to June 1 and before the end of the month extending to those enrolled after June 1.

Army Recommends Boost In Draft Age Up To 34

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Army has recommended to President Truman that the top draft age be boosted from 29 to 34 years when induction calls are resumed in September.

Few, if any, men over 26 have been drafted since V-J day last August.

The War department recommendation was disclosed Friday by an official completely familiar with it after the American Council on Education heard an assertion that selective service expects to "scrape the bottom of the manpower barrel as it's never been scraped before" by next March.

Mullins Adds 12th Victory Of Season; Eagles Move Up To Fourth By Whipping Oilers

Mullins won their 12th victory of the season and handed the VFW their 12th defeat Friday night when they overcame an early Vet lead and went on to win 9-4 in an American league tilt at Centennial park.

The Eagles dropped Sinclair, 6-1, to move into fourth place in the other loop game.

The Vets nailed three tallies in the second inning, and for a bit, threw a scare into the league leaders. However, Mullins came back with runs in the second and third and then added five in the fifth to ice the fray.

John Zines, on the hill for the victors, limited the VFW to five bingles. He struck out four and walked but one.

Johnny Pukalski rapped out three hits in as many trips to pace Mullins at the plate and boost his average to a solid .385.

Steve Zalko continued to have success at the platter and collected two for four. He now stands third in the loop with a .429 mark.

J. Kleinman of the Vets, got two for three to lead the losers.

Mullins now holds a comfortable two game lead over the field and only a couple unexpected defeats can prevent them from winning the pennant.

The other American loop game found the Eagles handing Sinclair, last year's city champs, their eighth loss in nine games.

Twirler Henry Dermotta pitched a neat four hitter in vanquishing the sixth place club. After allowing the Oilers a run in the first frame, he was invincible the rest of the way. He walked four and struck out none.

Chet Brautigam was nailed for 13 hits and, in addition, had a very wild night for him, as he walked two men.

Earl May, Eagle third sacker, clouted three for three, as did Jim Armeti, Eagle outfielder.

Dermotta, in addition to his fine hurling, also cracked a long home run in the sixth inning.

Bob Miller of Sinclair, moved back into first place in the league batting race as he stroked a single and double in three tries. His average now stands at an even .500.

The fielding gem of the evening was Eddie Bosick's long throw to the plate to nail Armeti in the fourth and end an Eagle rally.

The Eagles move ahead of the Jaycees by a half game.

Mullins Adds 12th Victory Of Season; Eagles Move Up To Fourth By Whipping Oilers

Mullins won their 12th victory of the season and handed the VFW their 12th defeat Friday night when they overcame an early Vet lead and went on to win 9-4 in an American league tilt at Centennial park.

The Eagles dropped Sinclairs, 6-1, to move into fourth place in the other loop game.

The Vets nailed three tallies in the second inning, and for a bit, threw a scare into the league leaders. However, Mullins came back with runs in the second and third and then added five in the fifth to ice the fray.

John Zines, on the hill for the victors, limited the VFW to five bingles. He struck out four and walked but one.

Johnny Pukalski rapped out three hits in as many trips to pace Mullins at the plate and boost his average to a solid .385. Steve Zatkos continued to have success at the platter and collected two for four. He now stands third in the loop with a .429 mark.

J. Kleinman of the Vets, got two for three to lead the losers.

Mullins now holds a comfortable two game lead over the field and only a couple unexpected defeats can prevent them from winning the pennant.

The other American loop game found the Eagles handing Sinclair, last year's city champs, their eighth loss in nine games.

Twirler Henry Dermotta pitched a neat four hitter in vanquishing the sixth place club. After allowing the Oilers a run in the first frame, he was invincible the rest of the way. He walked four and struck out none.

Chet Brautigan was nailed for 13 hits and, in addition, had a very wild night for him, as he walked two men.

Earl May, Eagle third sacker, clouted three for three, as did Jim Arneli, Eagle outfielder.

Dermotta, in addition to his fine hurling, also cracked a long home run in the sixth inning.

Bob Miller of Sinclair, moved back into first place in the league batting race as he stroked a single and double in three tries. His average now stands at an even .500.

The fielding gem of the evening was Eddie Bosick's long throw to the plate to nail Arneli in the fourth and end an Eagle rally.

The Eagles move ahead of the Jaycees by a half game.

Promoter Offers Yarosz Rematch with Mose Brown

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 12.

Jack Sheppard, Huntington promoter, wired the manager of Tommy Yarosz, his brother Ted, today offering $1,500 and one-third of the game for a return match between Mose Brown and Tommy in Huntington.

Brown, formerly of Pittsburgh but now fighting out of Huntington, was decided by Yarosz in Cleveland Monday night after which the Cleveland Boxing commission held up Brown's purse.

The $600 purse was released the following day, but the commission barred Brown from fighting in Cleveland for life, maintaining that his showing was unsatisfactory.

Wednesday night, Salem is in excellent shape for the Sunday affair.

Here Sunday will be an All-Star team composed of Owen Lewis of Alliance, Jim and Hal Everett, the father and son combination from Zanesville, Doc Wilson of Zelenople and Gordon Camp of Pittsburgh.

Lewis, well-known Alliance industrialist, is a former captain and player of the Alliance Polo club team.

Lewis at one time had a string of 26 polo ponies and has retained four for use this summer.

Wilson is a veteran of play with the old Zelenople club of the now extinct Penn-Ohio league. Camp played with Pittsburgh, Darlington and Zelenople while the Everetts played with Harbor Hills club of Zanesville.

Regular Salem lineup

Salem will use its regular lineup, which includes Willie Smith, Walt Fernengel, Pete Votaw, Tony Sheen and Dave Smith.

The local club defeated Darlington under the lights Wednesday in a high-scoring contest.

The game was considerably faster because the Darlington field is smaller and level than most.

Dave Smith scored eight goals.

Willie Smith five, Votaw and Wilson three each and Walt Fernengel one. One goal was awarded Salem by the referee.

McMillan led Darlington with four goals. Bob Watson nabbed four, Keith Watson and Praelon three and Camp one.

Only One Man Reaches Base In Near-Perfect Game; Recs Lose To Saxons By 15-6 Count

Dale Ritchie came through when the chips were down Friday night.

In a thrilling, tight-fielding game, he pitched what amounted to be almost a perfect game, and shut out pace-setting Demings without a hit 2-0 at Centennial park.

The other National league game resulted in a 15-6 win for the Saxons over the Recreation.

Ritchie was in rare form. He faced but 22 batters over the seven inning route.

Railroad To Install Gates At Two Leetonia Crossings

LEETONIA, July 13.—Following a lengthy discussion on safety measures needed to properly protect the Chestnut and Walnut st. crossings, the village council has instructed the clerk to notify the Public Utilities commission that an inspection of the two crossings was desired preparatory to requesting the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to install safety signals.

The crossing subject has been before council for some weeks and it was decided at the last meeting to invite railroad officials to attend council meeting and explain their plan for providing adequate protection for these two crossings.

A. M. Kennedy, of Alliance, supervisor of track, and J. A. Balla, of Pittsburgh, superintendent of railroad telegraph and signals, were present and outlined the signal devices.

Explains Operation

Balla explained that the crossing would be electrically and automatically protected by a bell, flashing signal lights and half-length gates. The signal superintendent explained that when an approaching train came within 3600 feet of the crossing, a bell would sound and a few seconds later the flashing lights would begin to operate, followed immediately by the dropping of the half-gates.

Flasher signals would face on Columbia, Chestnut and Hazel sts. In addition to the flashers, the gates would have a row of red lights on top of them that would come on as the gates dropped, giving the illusion of a solid barrier of red lights across the street. The gates are only half length, the gate on the north side of the track covering the right or west side of Chestnut st. while the gate on the south would cover the opposite side. Small gates covering the sidewalk also would drop.

With the short gates, Balla explained if a car were on the tracks when the signal sounded and the approach of a train, the car would continue around the right end of the opposite gate and be in the clear.

The Pennsylvania has agreed to smooth-up the two crossings at Chestnut and Walnut streets by resurfacing them. The Erie railroad also has been asked to smooth up their crossings.

Flying Eye

Valuable aid to aerial operation is this giant "fish eye" of the American Airlines electronic laboratory, the "Flagship Alpha." A "radome"—antenna for an airborne radar installation—it is intended to aid transport planes in navigation, instrument flying, weather surveillance and terrain collision prevention. E. F. Herzog, designing engineer of General Electric's transmitter division which designed the apparatus, inspects the "eye."

Railroad To Install Gates At Two Leetonia Crossings

LEETONIA, July 13.—Following a lengthy discussion on safety measures needed to properly protect the Chestnut and Walnut st. crossings, the village council has instructed the clerk to notify the Public Utilities commission that an inspection of the two crossings was desired, preparatory to requesting the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to install safety signals.

The crossing subject has been before council for some weeks and it was decided at the last meeting to invite railroad officials to attend council meeting and explain their plan for providing adequate protection for these two crossings.

A. M. Kennedy of Alliance, supervisor of track, and J. A. Balla, of Pittsburgh, superintendent of railroad telegraph and signals, were present and outlined the signal devices.

Explains Operation

Balla explained that the crossing would be electrically and automatically protected by a bell, flashing signal lights and half-length gates. The signal superintendent explained that when an approaching train came within 3600 feet of the crossing, a bell would sound and a few seconds later the flashing lights would begin to operate, followed immediately by the dropping of the half-gates.

Flashing signals would face on Columbia, Chestnut and Hazel sts. In addition to the flashers, the gates would have a row of red lights on top of them that would come on as the gates dropped, giving the illusion of a solid barrier of red lights across the street. The gates are only half length, the gate on the north side of the track covering the right or west side of Chestnut st. while the gate on the south would cover the opposite side. Small gates covering the sidewalk also would drop.

With the short gates, Balla explained, if a car were on the tracks when the signal sounded and the approach was "up" and "down" would continue around the right end of the opposite gate and be in the clear.

The Pennsylvania has agreed to smooth-up the two crossings at Chestnut and Walnut streets by resurfacing them. The Erie railroad also has been asked to smooth up their crossings.
